

The Continuous BioFlow Network Launch Meeting

Dr Sebastian Cosgrove, Keele University, and Dr Graeme Barker & Dr Dave Ellis, Heriot-Watt University

Summary

This funding helped to establish the Continuous BioFlow Network, an interdisciplinary group of scientists from across the UK focussed on advancing continuous biocatalysis and biomanufacturing research and translation.

Aims

- Establish a network of like-minded individuals from across the UK.
- Bring together academic and industrial researchers for a launch event to consolidate the network.
- Facilitate further growth in the sector through new collaborations.

Outcomes

- Network launch event attended by 80+ attendees.
- Representation from academia and industry, and a range of career stages.
- Network database now contains >100 contacts, with new collaborative partnerships developing from the meeting.
